HUGO — Hugo Police made a routine traffic stop on Dec. 1 after encountering a truck, with a broken brake light, which failed to turn into an inside lane on a two-way road.

According to police reports, the driver told officers that he did not have his drivers license with him. After running his name and date of birth through the communication center, the officers were made aware that the subject had a warrant out for his arrest, reports stated.

Officer's reports said that while patting the subject down, a large sum of money was found in his pocket. Because of this, the Drug Task Force agent was called to bring the drug detecting dog to the scene.

The agent ran the dog around the vehicle, and according to officer's reports, the dog hit on the truck and a search was conducted. Reports state that the officers only finding was a crack in the windshield.

The subject was transported to Choctaw County Jail and booked on the warrant, operating a motor vehicle without a valid drivers license, improper left turn at intersection of two-way road, wind shield cracked in driver's view and operating a motor vehicle with defective equipment.

The money that had been found in the subject's pocket was taken for seizure, reports state.
